

Brighton Philharmonic Orchestra

Concert 2023/24 Season

Welcome back!

It's an enormous pleasure to welcome you back, and introduce our exciting 2023-24 season.

We're opening with John Adams' thrilling Short Ride in a Fast Machine, and the pizzazz of Leonard Bernstein's West Side Story Dances. Throughout the season, you can experience classical greats like Sibelius, Debussy and Britten as well as passionate music by Ligeti, Arvo Pärt and Ryuichi Sakamoto. And don't miss our journey through Wagner's Ring cycle, one of the highlights of the season.

BPO's fresh programming reaches out to new and young audiences with our innovative LoveMusic scheme (see page 25).

We're celebrating the New York jazz cool of Moondog; fabulous female composers in our Mighty River concert; an evening inspired by cabaret, with Alistair McGowan in Stravinsky's Soldier's Tale – all with outstanding soloists and conductors. Treat yourself to Charles Dickens's A Christmas Carol with music, and a Viennese Gala to ring in the New Year.

Brighton Philharmonic Orchestra has been performing in Brighton for 99 years, and our concerts are for everyone. As we gear up for our centenary next year, come and join us for a wonderful season of music!

Brighton Philharmonic Orchestra's adventurous season starts with a bang! Music Director Joanna MacGregor joins Clark Rundell in a concert of rocket-fuelled American classics – John Adams, George Gershwin and Leonard Bernstein.

Chicago-trained conductor Clark Rundell – a world-class leader in the field of jazz and contemporary music – opens his BPO debut concert with John Adams' exhilarating Short Ride in a Fast Machine. No American composer of the last quarter of a century has composed so many significant works, and in Short Ride Adams packs an incredible amount of rollercoaster activity into just five minutes. George Gershwin's Broadway-inspired piano concerto, composed a year after the colossal success of Rhapsody in Blue, showed he could do everything in this 1925 masterpiece – enfolding jazz inflections within a virtuosic, large-scale romantic structure. The orchestration is sumptuous too: trumpet and woodwind solos that would later characterize Porgy and Bess, pounding MGM timpani, and a cascading toccata finale.

Charles Ives' contemplative The Unanswered Question offers a moment of existential stillness before Leonard Bernstein's hot-blooded Symphonic Dances from West Side Story. Be prepared to be blown away by the Jets and the Sharks, the mambo and cha-cha, Maria, the ultra-cool Cool and Rumble – and the gripping conclusion of this Romeo and Juliet tragedy, Somewhere.

Americana reimaged. Brighton Philharmonic join forces with some of the greatest jazz players on the scene today to explore Moondog, the cult figure whose influence stretches from 1960s New York to DJ Mr Scruff.

The acclaimed saxophonist and ECM artist Andy Sheppard has long been a creative partner of Joanna MacGregor, and the first half of this concert explores their best-selling album Deep River, where classic spirituals and Mississippi blues meets electronica. Deep South Americana is poetically reimaged for the 21st century, with music by Nick Cave, Tom Waits and Bob Dylan.

Composer, poet, percussionist, instrument-maker, record producer: Louis Hardin – known as Moondog – was one of the most influential musicians of the 20th century, influencing the young Steve Reich and Philip Glass. Blind from the age of sixteen, he travelled from Kansas to New York, hanging out with Charlie Parker, Stravinsky, Frank Zappa and Allen Ginsberg, and became a well-known street performer on Sixth Avenue. Dressed strikingly (if briefly) as a Viking, his melodic compositions – Voices of Spring, Bird's Lament, Dogtrot and Single Foot – encompass bebop, swing, rumba and Bach-like counterpoint, all captured in Joanna MacGregor's deft and witty 12-movement suite Sidewalk Dances for orchestra and jazz musicians, led by Andy Sheppard. She's also joined by the brilliant drummer Seb Rochford (Polar Bear, Kutcha Butcha) and the pioneering tabla player and record producer Kuljit Bhamra.

Sibelius and Arvo Pärt: our winter programme brings together two great composers in a concert of meditative, snowy beauty and drama.

Arvo Pärt is one of the most performed living composers in the world; he has enthralled listeners for decades, evoking a haunting spirituality through space and simplicity. The Estonian's music is mesmerising, ranging from sacred choral work to chamber and orchestral landscapes. We begin with the enduringly popular Spiegel im Spiegel, a soulful violin and piano duo; then a rare chance to hear Lamentate, his mightiest work to date. A dramatic ritual for piano and large orchestra, it was written in collaboration with Anish Kapoor at the opening of Tate Modern's Turbine Hall in 2002.

A powerful lament for the pain of living, Pärt describes the music oscillating between 'brutal-overwhelming and intimate-fragile.'

We continue with Sibelius' blazing, ecstatic second symphony. It was a beacon for Finnish independence as well as personal liberation: 'My second symphony is a confession of the soul,' the composer wrote, and it's become one of Sibelius' most loved works. We're delighted to welcome back the eminent conductor Sian Edwards.

Christmas arrives early with two festive performances of Charles Dickens' classic A Christmas Carol with acclaimed actor Pip Torrens and the BPO Brass Quintet.

Pip Torrens – known for his leading roles in The Crown, Poldark, Preacher and Star Wars – narrates this most Christmassy of tales. Directed by Richard Williams, the much-loved story of Ebenezer Scrooge, Tiny Tim and the spirits of Christmas Past, Present and Future is for absolutely everyone. Sparkling brass arrangements of Ding Dong Merrily on High, God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen, I Saw Three Ships

Come Sailing In, Coventry Carol, O Come O Come Emmanuel – and many more – support this seasonal tale of redemption and good cheer.

After 170 years, A Christmas Carol continues to be relevant: Dickens created a fable that cut through materialism and rekindled the delight and generosity of Yuletide, along with plum pudding, goose, and roasted chestnuts. We've created our own Christmas tradition – come and join us!

Each performance lasts 70 minutes. Mulled wine and mince pies will be served.

Out with the old and in with the new: what better way to celebrate, than with the BPO's Viennese concert on New Year's Eve?

Conductor Stephen Bell returns for an afternoon of musical fizz and fun, in a concert of favourites from the Strauss family and the wonderful world of Viennese operetta, and Christmas bonbons. He's joined by the young operatic soprano Ellie Laugharne, fresh from English National Opera and Grange Festival – 'honeyed, warm-spirited and riveting.'

Highlights include polkas by Johann Strauss, arias by L  har and seasonal music by Rimsky-Korsakov and Prokofiev. Together with waltzes from the heady days of 19th century caf   society, it's a perfect opportunity to sip a glass of champagne and welcome in the New Year.

The Observer

Surely one of the most ambitious concerts ever mounted by BPO! Vlieger's monumental symphonic adaptation of Wagner's epic Ring cycle weaves all the great tunes from Das Rheingold through to Götterdämmerung in 65 minutes.

Forget Game of Thrones. This is the original heroic epic, Wagner's dream: of Rhinemaidens, The Ride of the Valkyries, gods and giants, fiery dragons and – finally – the immolation of Valhalla. With rarities like four Wagner tubas and multiple anvils, it'll be one of the largest orchestras ever seen on the Dome stage. The charismatic young conductor Geoffrey Paterson – winner of the Leeds Conducting Competition, a regular guest at the Royal Opera House and assistant to Kirill Petrenko at Bayreuth – guides enormous forces, and our surtitles will steer you through the action.

In a short but spicy first half, we open with György Ligeti's dreamy Atmosphères (featured in Stanley Kubrick's 2001: A Space Odyssey) and Luciano Berio's witty Folk Songs, in the full orchestral version. A showstopper featuring settings from eleven countries, it's performed by the sensational German soprano Dorothea Herbert, recently lauded for Leonora at Glyndebourne and her appearances with Christian Thielemann in Dresden.

Tickets: £30 / 25

In a tale for our times, Alistair McGowan leads three actors in Stravinsky's 1918 masterpiece, The Soldier's Tale. Part anti-war, part Russian fable, it's a satirical story of a soldier, his violin, and the Devil.

A punchy evening of 20th century classics in the intimacy of the Corn Exchange, showcasing juicy cabaret tunes, subversive jazz and politics.

The first half opens with a treat – Stravinsky's stunningly cool Ebony Concerto, a homage to 1940s jazz and premiered by Woody Herman's band. Darius Milhaud's ballet score explores the creation of the world, based on African folk mythology and is emboldened by le jazz hot of Josephine Baker's 1920s Paris; while Kurt Weill's boisterous Threepenny Opera Suite takes us to Weimar Berlin – with Mack the Knife, Cannon Song, Tango Ballad and more.

In the second half, Alistair McGowan (The Big Impression) heads up a performance of Stravinsky's sharply observed, jazzily scored parable The Soldier's Tale. Can you take on the Devil and win?

Errollyn Wallen –

'Renaissance woman of contemporary British music.'

The Observer

Brighton Philharmonic is an orchestra led by women – our Music Director and principal players. We're delighted that, for International Women's Day, Joanna MacGregor's programme showcases exciting music by strong female composers.

British Jamaican composer and pianist Eleanor Alberga is a huge presence in today's music, with commissions from the BBC Proms and the Royal Opera, Covent Garden. Her filigree Clouds was commissioned by London Contemporary Dance and matches their scudding, drifting and storming. Belize-born British Errollyn Wallen – award-winning composer, pianist and singer – explores themes of slavery and freedom in her magnificent Mighty River, written in 2007 to mark the bicentenary of the Abolition of the Slave Trade Act. Quoting Amazing

Grace at the beginning, gathering momentum like a river flowing to the sea, Errollyn writes: 'it is as if the perpetual motion of the music, like water, like time, through its sheer momentum carries with it the cries and echoes of human hearts and voices, that are singing out of suffering, repentance, humility and hope.'

Born in Little Rock, Arkansas the composer, pianist, organist and teacher Florence Price was the first African American female composer to be performed by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra in 1933. Her powerful and lyrical Mississippi River Suite was written the next year, and starts with an evocation of the dawn, before a wonderful weaving of Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen, Stand Still Jordan, Go Down, Moses and Deep River.

Our final orchestral concert is inspired by the sea. Framed by Britten's stormy Four Sea Interludes and Debussy's spectacular La Mer, we're joined by the violinist Ragnhild Hemsing in a joyful visit to the Norwegian fjords.

The dynamic young conductor Adam Hickox (Rotterdam Philharmonic, Orchestre de Paris) conducts BPO's tremendous season finale, opening with Benjamin Britten's darkly psychological Four Sea Interludes from Peter Grimes, evoking both the power of the sea and a stifling fishing village. Then to the fjords: we present the first British performance of Geirr Tveitt's ebullient Three Fjords concerto for hardanger fiddle, performed by the brilliant young virtuoso Ragnhild Hemsing. A rare and irresistible gem, Ragnhild has just released a five-star recording of this work with the Bergen Philharmonic.

Joanna MacGregor joins for three short pieces for piano and orchestra by the legendary Japanese film composer, record producer and actor Ryuichi Sakamoto, whose delicate, experimental scores included Bertolucci's The Last Emperor and The Sheltering Sky. Debussy's love of Japanese art is reflected in his three-movement masterwork of La Mer, which is scrupulously wild: he famously selected Hokusai's woodblock Great Wave off Kanagawa for the title page. It finishes a vibrant, sometimes tempestuous but always playful concert. Unmissable!

Ancient and Modern

Brighton Philharmonic Orchestra continues a chamber music programme with their very talented principal players, expanding its musical footprint across Sussex.

We're delighted to visit Petworth Festival with a programme weaving together ancient and modern styles. Britten's beautiful arrangement of Purcell finds echoes in Arvo Pärt's virtuosic Fratres, while Bach and Piazzolla's refreshing dance rhythms complement Vaughan Williams' passionate Piano Quintet: ploughing the rich soil of English folk, it's perfect for a Sussex summer evening.

Two more ways to help

Sponsor an Orchestral Seat

Each section of the orchestra has a principal player and their deputy, known as the sub-principal. You'll see from our programmes at concerts that individuals and organisations support many of these positions by sponsoring a seat. Prices range from £300 to £2500, depending on the position being sponsored.

Sponsor a Concert

This is suited to company sponsorship but is also ideal for families dedicating a concert to the memory of a loved one. Individual packages can be tailor-made, allowing you to treat your guests in style. Packages are bespoke and start at £3,000.
